JERSEY'S PROPOSED SEWER

MAY BE OPPOSED BY NEW YORK STATE COMMISSION.

Ex-Gov. Griggs Says. Too. That the Recent Decision Allowing It Will Be Appealed-Dr. Lewis Says It Would Make Cesspeol-Hew Boston Manager

The plan to construct a big trunk sewer to drain the waste of a number of cities in northern New Jersey into New York Bay received a fresh impetus on Saturday by the New Jersey Supreme Court's decision handed down by Judges Pitney and Gar retson, Judge Fort dissenting, in which the constitutionality of the act authorizing the proposed sewer was sustained. But while the advocates of the schem are encouraged, there is evidence that its opponents will make fresh efforts to defend t. It is already announced, on the author ity of ex. Gov. Griggs, that the case will t carried to the New Jersey Court of Errors and Appeals, and, if that is unavailing, to the Supreme Court of the United States. In New York the opposition long ago took definite form. A year ago last March the Governor appointed a commission to examine and report as to the condition of the waters of New York Bay in the matter of sewage contamination. The commiswaters of New York Bay as they now are taking the specimens for investigation rom different places and at different stage of the tide, and it has also submitted to the Attorney-General of the State a series of questions bearing upon the jurisdiction over the waters of the bay of the States o New York and New Jersey and of the United States.

The reports as to the analyses of the bay water have not as yet been received by the commission, although it is understood that they are about completed and will soon be submitted. The commission has also vet to hear from the Attorney-General and the legal questions propounded to him The pext full meeting of the commission wil be held in October and it is expected that very soon after that meeting the full report of the findings will be submitted to Gov. Odell.

Dr. Daniel Lewis, who, besides being chair man of the commission, is a member of the State Board of Health, in speaking yesterday of the work of the commission and of he probable tenor of its report to the Governor, said: "There is one thing on which the commission, I think, is already fully agreed that the waters of the bay and the rivers are already carrying all the sewage they ought to carry; and I have no doubt that the report of the commission will urge that the existing conditions at least re-While the old sewers main stationary. cannot well be fitted with apparatus for he sanitary treatment of sewage. o new sewers should be opened without such apparatus.

The proposed New Jersey sewer is to empty into the bay at a point not very fai from opposite Robbin's Reef. seems to be pretty clearly established that the tides do not take the upper bay sewage out through the Narrows. On the contrary, it has been reported that New York sewage has been found up along the east bank of the Hudson as far as Tarrytown, and I presume it goes up even higher."

"Then, if the waters of New York Bay become dangerous to the health of the city."

Dr. Lewis was asked, "the menace would go all along up the Hudson for many miles, would it not?"

"That would seem to be the inevitable sult," replied Dr. Lewis.
"If millions of cubic feet more were emptied into the upper bay by the proposed New Jersey sewer, New York would have prac-tically an open cesspool right under its

"That is just about what it would be," replied Doctor Lewis, "unless the sewage were scientifically treated and rendered were scientifically treated and rendered harmless before it got to the bay. It would be an expensive addition to the sewer plant to put in this sewage filtering apparatus, but such an apparatus would be capable of rendering the sewage harmless before it got to the bay. It would be a better plan for each city drained by the sewer to put in its own disinfecting plant. Then the sewage, by the time it reached the main trunk sewer, would be harmless. I do not think under such circumstances it would be necin its own disinfecting plant. Then the sewage, by the time it reached the main trunk sewer, would be harmless. I do not think under such circumstances it would be necessary to put in the disinfecting plant also in connection with the main sewer. The others would answer every purpose.

"There are several ways of disinfecting sewage. One is to run it into tanks that are tightly covered. In such receptacles with the air and the light kept out, the solid matter turns to liquid. This is not a chemical process. No chemicals are required.
After being thus liquefied the sewage is drawn off onto filter beds composed of gravel or broken stone. After passing through these, the sewage is quite harmless when emptied into a considerable bodyof water, as a large river, or, still more, as our bay and rivers around New York.

"In London, where they handle as much sewage in a day and probably more than in the same interval comes from New York and all the large cities around New York within a radius of many miles, they use a chemical process for liquefying the sewage, or rather for separating the solid from the liquid portions. There are two plants in London, one on each side of the Thomes.
In these the sewage is diverted into tanks
where it is chemically treated with alum and sulphate of copper. This causes a precipitation of the solid matter. Then the liquid portion, which is quite harmless, is drawn off into the river. The solids from the bottoms of the tanks are taken on barges to sea about fifty miles and there dumped. The plan seems to work very satisfactorily.

"In Boston we were much interested in what is called the intermittent system of sewerage. That is, there is not a continuous flow from the sewers, but an intermittent one. It is regulated to coincide with the movement of the tides. No sewage is let out on an incoming tide. It is all held back until the beginning of the ebb and then it is let go. It works very well in Boston, I believe. We only visited Boston and Philadelphia in the course of our investi

New York Bay 3,280,000,000 gallons of sewage every twenty-four hours.

Dr. Lewis said that personally he strongly favored the creation of a permanent interstate sewerage commission covering the metropolitan district of New York and the nearby cities of New Jersey, this commission to have in hand the study of all the broader problems involved in the drainage matter. He was of the opinion that the final report of the commission of which he is the chairman would contain a strong recommendation to that effect.

MUMBER IN CHONDAGA COUNTY. ROOSEVELT READY TO BE TOLD

WILL SEAT NOTIFICATION COM-MITTEE ON THE LAWN.

Three Hours Allowed for the Full Ceremony, Travelling Between the Station and Sagamore Hill and a Luncheon by Mrs. Roosevett-Carriages Searce.

OYSTER BAY, L. I., July 24 .- Plans have been perfected for formally notifying President Roosevelt next Wednesday of his nomination. The exercises will consist merely of the notification speech by Chair man Cannon of the notification committee and the response by the President, and there will not be more than 125 guests, including the committee, present.

The notification committee, which composed of a representation from each of the States and Territories, will arrive here at 11:30 o'clock Wednesday morning on a special train. The train will leave Long Island city at 10:30 o'clock. Carriages will be waiting for the members of the committee at the station here and they will be driven at once to Sagamore Hill There has been some difficulty in getting carriages enough to accommodate all the guests who are coming, but many private rigs have been offered for the occasion neighbors of the President and some out of town carriages have been chartered The exercises will begin promptly at 12:30

The President, if the weather is pleasant, will seat his guests on the lawn facing the veranda, from which the speeches will be delivered. In the event of bad weather the notification committee and the guest will be seated on the veranda, which extends across the front and on one side of the house. The speakers could stand near the corner and could easily be heard b those seated in each wing. It is expected that the speeches will not consume more than an hour.

After the formal exercises the Presiden and Mrs. Roosevelt will entertain the guests at luncheon on the veranda. A special train leaving here at 3:30 in the afternoon will carry the committee and the guests back to New York. Among those who will be present from this State are Gov Odell, Senator Platt, Elihu Root and National Committeeman William L. Ward. Senator Depew is a member of the committee, but he is in Europe.

The President attended Christ Episcopal Church with his family as usual this morning. They were driven from Sagamore Hill in an open wagon. A drizzling rain fell during their ride to and from the church. Drawn up in front of the church, when the President's carriage drove up, were sixty boys all dressed in khaki suits, who saluted and looked happy in the dampness when the President acknowledged their greeting by tipping his hat and smiling.

The boys are members of the Cadet Battalion of St. George's Church, New York, of which the Rev. Dr. Rainsford is pastor They are encamped on West Neck, near here, and marched over to see the President. They wanted the President to come over and review them when they came down here a week ago, but Mr. Roosevel was not able to accept the invitation.

Secretary of the Treasury Leslie M Shaw, who was the President's guest over last night, left town this afternoon for Washington. His visit, he said, had to do entirely with departmental business. Judge Parker has a good sized following in Oyster Bay. One of the leaders of the Parker forces in the President's home town is ex-Assemblyman Sol Townsend. But Townsend usually takes part when there is any kind of a celebration going on in honor of the President. He was asked to-day if he was going to attend Mr. Roose velt's formal notification exercises.

"None." he replied. "Well, why not, aren't you feeling well?

"Yes," he replied, "you bet I'm feeling as well as a Parker Democrat can feel on a wet Sunday in Oyster Bay.

DON'T MARRY TOO EARLY.

Gov. Warfield Gives Good Advice to Young Girls and to Young Men, Too.

BALTIMORE, July 24.—Gov. Warfield has had to listen to considerable chiding since he advised the Wilmington High School girls not to marry until they reached the age of 26 years.

"That remark," he said to-day, "was made in a spirit of playfulness. . My advice to them was not to marry too early. I told them, if asked the age when you should marry, I should say twenty-six. That was the age of Mrs. Warfield when I married her, and I have said to my daughters that should not give my consent to their marryng until they arrive at that age. The emark was on the spur of the moment.

"Seriously speaking," he said, "I do think that many lives are made failures by persons marrying before their characters have been formed. You know whom first we love we rarely wed. This is a very true saving. Young people are impres sionable and romantic, and if left to their mony without properly considering the grave responsibilities of married life. Many cases have come under my observation where youthful and hasty marriages have resulted i. unhappiness, discontent and lives of diudgery. The old saying, 'Marry in haste and repent at leisure,' proves too often true. Young men and women should remember that the romantic attachments of vouth are not generally lasting.

"I would not wish to be regarded as lay ng down ironclad rules concerning the exact age when a girl should marry. It migh be at 22, 24, 25 or 26 years; it all depends upon the physical and mental development of the girl. I meant rather to indicate that a girl should not marry until she was over 21 and of an age to comprehend the responsibility of the marriage state and responsibility of the marriage state and to make an intelligent choice of the man whose companionship will be either a help or a hindrance to her life. Marriage for the purpose of settling a daughter in life is, as a rule, a failure and an unhappy one. No parent, and especially no true and loving mother, will wish to push her daughter into matrimony before she is fully matured and fitted for the grave responsibilities of married life.

married life.

"Young girls just out of school are not equipped for the ordinary household duties of wives and for the cares and trials of motherhood. They should, after leaving school, spend some time with their parents, giving these parents the pleasure of their companionship and learning something of the everyday work that will be theirs as wives. The girl who marries too early misses many of the pleasures of life. She is doomed to spend her youthful days in the trying and taxing cares of motherhood the trying and taxing cares of motherhood and household duties, with broken health and run downnerves before she has passed out of her teens. Such marriages are unfortunate.

"The same advice pertains to young men.
I have known of cases where young men because they married too soon and before they had established themselves in permathey had established themselves in permanent positions were compelled to give up good opportunities for advancement because family ties and environments kept them down to one locality. The realization of the mistakes of marrying too early has discouraged many a young man, blasted his future, brought disappointment to him-self and deprivation and suffering to his family."

SHOT HIS NEIGHBOR'S WIFE. Remarkable Crime of a Jealous Young Man in New Hamp BERIAN, N. H., July 24 .- Members of the police force of this place were astounded to-day when John Green of West Milan drove up to the station house, hitched his horse and announced that he had shot and killed Mrs. Spurgeon Lockhart, wife of a neighbor, last night. It was the first the police had heard of the shooting. The young man told the police that he was crazed with jealousy at the sight of the woman he loved in a carriage with another man, and that he thought a drug which the woman had been giving him had affected him mentally. Green was locked up on his own confession and the police are making a thorough investigation of the affair, acting in conjunction with the deputy sheriff of West Milan.

The murder took place on the highway near the little village of West Milan early last night, and as yet the police working on the case have been unable to learn who two men and a woman were that Green says witnessed the tragedy. Mrs. Lockhart was shot through the head with s rifle and must have died instantly. Her body was taken into a neighboring house and later was removed to the residence

Green is 34 years old and bore an excel ent reputation. He lived with his parents just this side of West Milan. The victim of his jealous mood was 30 years of age and the wife of Spurgeon Lockhart, who runs a livery stable in West Milan.

According to the story told by Green, he had been seeing Mrs. Lockhart with great frequency of late and says that she ad ministered some kind of a drug to him on many occasions and that he was in a stupefied condition most of the time. Last evening Green says he was sitting on his front steps when Mrs. Lockhart drove past with another woman. Closely following the woman came another carriage containing Green conceived the idea that they would pair off a little way along the road and in his rage went to a neighbor's house and borrowed a rifle. Then he harnessed his own horse and drove rapidly after the two buggies, catching up with them just this side of West Milan.

One of the men was just stepping into Mrs. Lockhart's buggy as he overtook it. Green sprang from his carriage and, raising his rifle, fired one shot at the woman and she fell into the highway. Green says he drove away at once and spent the night at the house of a relative, coming here to-day to surrender himself.

The police say Green made an attempt to kill himself after shooting Mrs. Lock-hart, but was unable to explode the rifle and at the same time have the muzzle at his head. The young man was in a badly disordered frame of mind when he appeared here to-day. No formal com-plaint has been made against him, but he will probably be arraigned before Judge Rich of the District Court to-morrow killed and 278 were slaughtered at the Nelson-Morris plant.

Four trainloads of non-union men were brought into the yards to-day. They were apportioned among the packers as follows, according to the reports given out: Armour company, 110; Morris company, 285; Swift ompany, 195; Hammond company, 60. Most of the men are unskilled negro laborers. They were not molested by the pickets In fact, few pickets were visible to-day, as they had received orders to stay at

To-night there was some excitement at Forty-second place and Wallace street, when a crowd attacked a bread which had been delivering bread for the non-union men in the Armour plant. The driver was on his way back when the attack was made. J. C. Smith, superintenden of the bakery, was on the wagon with the driver. Edward Smith.

The two men ran and escaped the mob The harness was cut and the horses turned oose. Afterward the mob overturned the wagon and was proceeding to demolish it when the police from the stock yards station arrived and dispersed the rioters.

The future action of the packers will be governed largely by the developments of o-morrow. They do not expect that onehalf the men in the yards will respond to a strike order, and they also expect a break n the ranks of the butcher workmen. Many of the latter are said to be dissatisfied over the renewal of the strike.

The cattle butchers are blamed for precipitating the trouble. If the men respond and the tie-up is complete, the packers will consider any proposition looking toward opening negotiations with the unions, but if it fails they will take the men back only as individuals. They make no secret of the fact that they would prefer to have no contract with the butcher workmen at all if they could get the men to return under any other understanding The leaders of the cattle butchers were since the beginning of the strike. They say that, had the Armour superintendent notified them that only a limited number could be placed at work, there would have been no trouble over it. It is said that many foreigners find good places in European packing houses after having some experience in this country as the packers of the large European centres are getting more and more Amerianized in their methods of killing, curi and shipping meat and provisions

St. Louis, Mo., July 24.- There were foureen policemen on guard at the Manchester avenue entrance to the St. Louis Dressed Beef and Provisions Company's plant this afternoon, although there were no signs of disturbances. It was asserted that the strikers had quarrelled among themselves. some of them saying that they did not want to obey the new strike order. The St. Louis company declares that it will run full capacity to-morrow and during the week. The plants of Armour & Co., Swift & Co. and the Nelson Morris Company, in East St. Louis, were not operated to-day. John McCarthy, a hog butcher for the Nelson Morris plant and a former assistant foreman for the concern, and John Lee, a former hog butcher for the Armour plant, declared that if the switchmen and the drivers were called out to-morrow morning not a pound of meat could be delivered in East St. Louis.

STRIKE BREAKER SHOOTS FIVE Attacked by Union Men, Negro Empties

Shotgun Into the Mob. ST. JOSEPH, Mo., July 24.-Five union men, pickets on duty at the west end of Missouri avenue, were shot down to-day by a negro strike breaker, employed at one of the packing houses One is fatally

The negro who did the shooting is Ab Kruse. He says he has been twice assaulted because he returned to work, and that his home has been twice set on fire by strikers. Kruse's victims are: Joseph Weigle shot in abdomen, will die; Joseph Sanger, shot in the leg; John Jetta, shot in the legs and body; August Newmeyer, shot in the legs; Steve Finnigan, shot in legs.

As a result of the shooting, feeling among the strikers is running high, and the utmost vigilance is required on the part of the police to prevent rioting. The five men were wounded by a single shot from a magazine shotgun, loaded with No.

The negro who did the shooting passe through the lines to his home yesterday evening, remaining there over night. It is stated that he was chased by pickets as he went out. As he returned to work to-day the assault was renewed.

be spared is on duty at the packing plants with Chief Frans in command. Rumore are passing about that the managers of the plants will attempt to import a large number of strike breakers during the night; and in consequence a feeling of unessines pervades the lines of pickets.

Twelve men were brought to the city on a Santa Fé train and taken to the plants under police protection early this evening, and this action caused additional feeling among the strikers.

NO WORD OF BEEF STRIKE HERE. Butchers Expect to Be at Work To-day -Plants All Busy.

The New York meat cutters and butcher workmen would not admit last night that they had received any orders from Chicago to strike, and said that they intended to go to work as usual this morning. They still seemed to feel that there would be no strike in this city in any event, and had heard that a conference would be held in Chicago this morning in an effort to settle the trouble.

Work went on briskly yesterday in the abattoirs of the Schwarzschild & Sulzberger Company and the United Dressed Beef Company. Five hours work was done in the slaughter houses of each, which is the usual amount on Sunday.

At both establishments it was said that the full force of men would be at work today. Preparations were made last evening at all the different plants for resuming work in all departments to-day. A large stock of cattle on the hoof and sheep and lambs has been arriving in New Jersey. and will be sent to their consignees in this city to-day. The large packing bouses will sell at the usual prices which ruled before the strike, and the retail prices are expected to take a drop to-day or to-
